REDUCE DEPENDENCY ON FOREIGN FOOD Support Local Organic Regenerative Farming

The Problem

- America imports millions of tons of food every year from countries that often allow toxic chemicals already banned here.
- 85.7% of glyphosate producers are based in China – we are outsourcing our food and our health to foreign corporations.
- Global instability makes us vulnerable when we can't feed ourselves safely. It's time to reduce our dependency on organic food!

The Solution

Local, Organic, Regenerative, and Non-Toxic Farming

- Builds food security and reduces dependence on foreign imports.
- Supports American farmers who choose health over chemicals.
- Creates jobs and thriving local economies.
- Provides families with real food free from pesticides, heavy metals, and endocrine disruptors.

Why It Matters

- ➔ Safer food for our children – fewer toxins, fewer health risks.
- ➔ Stronger communities – money stays local, not sent overseas.
- ➔ National security – a country that can feed itself is strong.
- ➔ Healthier soil & water – regenerative farming heals the land for future generations.
