SECTION 453: PROTECTING PESTICIDE COMPANIES FROM LAWSUITS — NOT OUR CHILDREN

What Is Section 453?

Section 453 hands pesticide and chemical companies immunity from lawsuits — even if their products cause cancer, birth defects, infertility, or other serious harm.

WHY THIS IS DANGEROUS

- No Accountability – If Section 453 becomes law, victims harmed by pesticides would have no legal pathway to seek justice.
- Protects Profits, Not People – Corporations that knowingly sell toxic products get a free pass.
- Blocks State Action – State bans or safety laws could be overridden by federal immunity.

The Public Overwhelmingly Rejects This

- 87% of Republicans oppose giving chemical companies immunity from lawsuits.
- 94% of Republican voters are very concerned that the EPA relies on industry-funded data to determine safety.

Who Benefits?

- Pesticide manufacturers like Bayer and Syngenta, whose products are in our food, water, playgrounds, and even baby formula

Who Loses?

- ➔ Farmers
- ➔ Parents
- ➔ Children
- ➔ Anyone exposed to toxic pesticides

What You Can Do:

- ➔ Tell your representatives: Strip Section 453 from the bill.
- ➔ Share this flyer — make sure parents, farmers, and communities know what's at stake.
